

OpenLearn - Multimedia-Based Course

A comprehensive learning course with many different audio and video features, grammar explanations, and exercises. All explanations are in English.

OpenLearn - Extensive Course

This course from OpenLearn takes about 15 hours and touches on all skills that are important for learning French: grammar explanations and exercises, video and audio content, and lessons on vocabulary.

Duolingo - Learn French in Short Lessons

Duolingo's learning platform is based on short exercises in vocabulary and grammar – an excellent way to get started with French. This well-designed website is free to use, but you will need to create a free account to begin the course.

Tex's French Grammar - Learning by Unit

Use this 13-unit French course to work through basic-intermediate French grammar step by step. This course contains interactive exercises as well as audio and video files, which make each lesson varied and interesting!

Langmaster - Extensive Course

This is a thorough language course that has a number of different exercises for you to practise French along the way. The course is divided into three levels of difficulty.

Wikibooks - Short French Course

Wikibooks offers a learning track for getting started with the French language. There are explanations and examples of French grammar and vocabulary divided into digestible lessons.

Languages Online - Extensive Lessons

A simple but efficient language course with vocabulary and grammar exercises. The lessons are divided into units and contain varied exercises with many images and pictures. To find the course, click on "Français" in the site navigation on the left.

